WORSHIPDeacon Chris Morash: deaconchris@incarnationparish.orgTHE HOLY TRINITY

This feast, first celebrated in monastic communities in the 9th century as an expression of praise to the triune God, was extended to the entire Western Church in the 14th. It celebrates the mystery of God's self-revelation through the experiences of the people of Israel, the disciples of Jesus, and the Christian people since Pentecost.

MISSION AND MYSTAGOGY

"Go in peace to love and serve the Lord." With those words, all the baptized are dismissed from the eucharist. For those who were baptized at Easter, the significance of this is that it is a new dismissal. As catechumens, they were dismissed after the homily to continue being formed by the word of God and the teachings of the church. As neophytes, now they remain with the baptized and take their part in the work of the faithful: to offer intercession, praise, sacrifice and thanksgiving to the Father. In other words, the baptized continue the work of Jesus, in whose name they pray who is present within and among them and in the sacrament at the altar

But the work of the baptized and the goal of Christian initiation is not completed by participating in the liturgy of the eucharist. The eucharist itself is not complete until those who have celebrated it return to the world from which they came to continue to offer intercession, praise and thanksgiving through their attitudes, actions and interactions in everyday life. The mission of Jesus was to proclaim the Good News of God's reign and to bring all people to the Father, and that is the mission into which we all are baptized.

During the Fifty Days of Easter, and for about a year, the neophytes participate in mystagogy, a Greek word that means "teaching the mysteries." The mysteries this refers to are primarily the sacraments. During this time, and throughout their lives, the neophytes and all the faithful deepen their understanding of what it means to have been baptized and confirmed and to continue to participate in all the sacraments, particularly the eucharist. At the end of every Mass, we are offered a small reminder that to participate in the sacraments is to take on the work and mission of Jesus.

Go in peace to love and serve the Lord. Thanks be to God.

CHRISTIAN FORMATIONNancy Brinkac: nancy@incarnationparish.org

JOIN OUR CHRISTIAN FORMATION TEAM! Are you being empowered by the Holy Spirit to become a Catechist? Through our Baptism and Confirmation, we all share in Jesus' gift of the Spirit, through which we are called (vocation) and sent (mission), each in our own way to continue Christ's presence in our world today. One of the ways to ensure Christ's presence is to share in His teaching ministry and become a Catechist. Join with someone and become part of our Christian Formation Team. Contact Nancy to discuss the possibilities!

DON'T FORGET TO REGISTER for next year's CF classes. Fees go up on June 1! Visit our CF link at www.incarnationparish.org for details on how to register or contact Nancy.

Thanks to all families who contributed items and/or service to make our Appreciation Dinner for our Christian Formation Team a success. Your generosity that made our team feel special! Check out the Incarnation website for pictures!

Helder Camara rises each morning at 2:00am to pray. Dorothy Day has probably written as much on prayer in her column in The Catholic Worker as on any other subject. Yet despite the example and unequivocal exhortations of the best of the best, the Catholic peace movement does not seem to possess a prayer life consistent with the gravity of the evil it is confronting. It is almost as if it were trying to carry on its war against the powers of darkness with one of its most potent weapons in mothballs. ~ Charles McCarthy

NEXT WEEKEND-SPECIAL COLLECTION: 2008 Peter’s Pence
Christ Our Hope is the theme for this year’s Peter’s Pence Collection. This year’s theme reflects the message of Pope Benedict XVI’s encyclical Spe Salvi: an invitation for people to encounter Jesus Christ personally. In the encyclical, Pope Benedict said that faith in Christ brings well-founded hope in eternal salvation, the “great hope” that can sustain people through the trials of this world. The Collection enables the Holy Father to respond with emergency financial assistance to the needy throughout the world—those who suffer as a result of war, oppression, disease, and natural disaster. It likewise provides the faithful with a tangible opportunity to not only empower the weak, defenseless, and voiceless, but also to sustain those who suffer.

Our hearts go out to communities and families devastated by the recent cyclone in Myanmar and the tornados here in Virginia. Many parishes have contacted the Diocese asking how they can help. Listed below are two notices to help direct donations from parishioners to the victims of these natural disasters.

MYANMAR AID: Catholic Relief Services is supporting the emergency relief and response efforts of the Caritas Internationalis network in the most affected areas of Myanmar after the Cyclone Nargis devastated much of the country. To help with this monumental catastrophe please send donations to:

Catholic Relief Services at P.O. Box 17090, Baltimore, MD 21203-7090. Include on the check memo line that the donation is for: Southeast Asia National Disaster. Or make a donation online at <http://www.crs.org>.

SUFFOLK DISASTER RELIEF: Catholic Charities of Eastern Virginia is now accepting donations to help the recovery of people affected by the recent tornados with financial assistance for shelter, food, rent, mortgage, utilities and medical expenses that insurance does not cover. 100% of every dollar collected will go directly to help the victims. The program will be coordinated with government agencies and United Way agencies so that the funds are distributed in a fair, timely, and effective way to the neediest individuals. Virginia did not meet the threshold for federal disaster assistance. As a result, no federal assistance will be available to individual homeowners or businesses. Make a credit card donation by calling (757) 456-2366, ext. 504. Mail donations to CCEVA at 5361-A Virginia Beach Blvd, Virginia Beach, VA 23462.
